

Commission on Lifelong Learning

DRAFT

Overview

- Model for the commission – Poverty Commission
- Role of the Commission on Lifelong Learning - Discussion
- Next Steps

Working from a Successful Model

Utilize the Poverty Commission framework and process

- Commission co-chaired by two councilmembers
- Members designated by City Council
- Include city staff from related departments to support commission work
- Commission role: to examine the nature of poverty in Norfolk and recommend actions that would increase educational attainment and employment and reduce the number of citizens and families living in poverty

Discussion of the Commission's Role

Next Steps

- Adopt a resolution on May 9 to establish an ad hoc commission to submit recommendations for lifelong learning
- Recommendations for commission leadership and members, to be validated and approved by City Council as part of the resolution
